DUAL PREVIEW:

After a week off for Thanksgiving, Otterbein returns to the mat and will host its first home dual of the season against No. 6-ranked Mount Union.

The Cards began league action with a nice road win at Ohio Northern, and followed with a strong showing in Virginia that concluded with a complete team victory at the U.S. Marine Corps Star City Open.

The team-captain trio of Jackson Lakso (125), Corbin Bunsold (197) and Drew Kasper (285) continues leading the way, as all are nationally-ranked on the year and undefeated at a combined 35-0. All three won their weight classes down in Virginia.

The Cards have also found nice contributions from a handful of new faces, most notably Jarrod Setliff at 184 and fellow freshman Zach Altman in the 157-165 range. Setliff leads the team with nine pins so far.

Mount Union has four OAC titles and five runner-up finishes in the last decade. The Raiders are 16-2 straight up since the start of last season and feature defending national champion Jairod James at 174 lbs. He transferred last year from Kent State.

Nolan Wochna and Michael McIntire also qualified for the NCAA Championships last year, where Mount finished 10th as a team. Wochna (125-133) and McIntire (157-165) are two of seven Purple Raiders in the most recent d3wrestle.com individual national rankings.

Mount has claimed both matchups between the schools since the Otterbein program returned, winning 36-10 last year and then 26-15 the prior year up in Alliance.
